A wave of sentiment favoring the $180,000 bond issue for completing the high school building program was gathering force today and was expected to reach a peak early next week.

On Tuesday night most of the Parent-Teacher associations in the city are to meet for the purpose of expressing themselves on the building program. Mrs. John A. Mills, president of the city council of Parent-Teacher associations, said today that it is expected the meetings will give the bonds an overwhelming indorsement.

Yesterday the citizens' committee working on behalf of the bonds met to report on developments so far and make plans for the balance of the campaign. This committee includes O. H. Barr, J. C. Horton, J. B. Tucker and Mrs. Mills.

Monday morning a house-to-house canvass in the interests of the bond issue will be started by all Parent-Teacher associations in the city. Presidents of all city units will meet at 9:30 a. m. Monday in the board of education office and will obtain literature to be distributed.

Officer North, who advanced to the post of assistant jailer, retired yesterday. His last official act was to lock up Tobin, now 69 years of age, on another charge of intoxication.

ELAINE CRIES AND DECIDES TO GO HOME

'Screen Lover' Dashes Around in Taxicabs Avoiding Fair One

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 21. (AP)—Elaine Barrie, 20-year-old former protege of John Barrymore, was left behind here today in her futile chase half way across the continent after the movie actor who is speeding to California where his wife, Dolores Costello Barrymore, has filed suit for divorce.

The Kansas City Star said the brunette Miss Barrie had abandoned the transcontinental game of run-sheep-run and would return to her home in New York.

Barrymore succeeded in eluding the girl here as he did yesterday in Chicago.

With a bodyguard, he boarded the Santa Fe railroad's California limited at Holliday, Kan., west of here, after leaving a train from Chicago in North Kansas City and dashing about in taxicabs.

Miss Barrie, who left Westward by train last night doubled back at Emporia, Kan., and arrived in Kansas City while the "screen lover" was here but failed to catch up with him.

She waited tearfully at the union station while Barrymore, with two days growth of beard on his face, his eyes bloodshot and his clothing wrinkled, rushed away to catch the Los Angeles-bound train at Holliday.

For a long time no motorist paid any attention.

NEW HOPE IS GIVEN FOR MOONEY

Janitor Tells Of Seeing Bombing Suspect On Top Of Building

MAY BAR TESTIMONY
Present Hearing Limited To Discussion Of Previous Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21. (AP)—Sudden hope was given Tom Mooney adherents today as a result of the assertion of an Oregon City, Ore., man that Mooney was on the roof of the Eilers' building in San Francisco when the 1916 Preparedness day bombing occurred.

Marshall R. Spencer, 58, worker at odd jobs, told authorities last night in Oregon that he was janitor and elevator operator at the Eilers' building when the fatal explosion, which cost the lives of 10 persons, took place.

"I knew Mooney well," Mr. Spencer asserted, "and he and his wife were on the roof of the Eilers' building watching the parade when the explosion happened. We heard the explosion, but we didn't know what it was. It was about a mile away, you know."

Mr. Spencer said he had not mentioned the incident all these years because he "never thought it would do any good."

Mooney, serving a life term at San Quentin state prison but temporarily imprisoned in a San Francisco county jail cell, could not recall Mr. Spencer. The Oregon man had earlier said he doubted if Mooney would remember his name, inasmuch as he had been employed at the Eilers' building only two or three months.

Belief was expressed here, however, that Mr. Spencer's testimony would, at this late date, not be admitted into the current hearing, which was said to be limited to discussion of actual testimony at the original trial.

Further hearing on Mooney's habeas corpus bid for freedom, suggested by the United States supreme court, were continued today.

Meanwhile, Warren K. Billings, convicted at the same time as Mooney on a murder charge, and now an inmate of Folsom state prison, started a block Mooney's latest bid for freedom. Billings supervised the filing of an injunction plea with the state supreme court, through which Referee A. E. Shaw would be restrained from hearing further proceedings in the Mooney case unless Billings was present.

Journal Starts New Romance on Monday

There are many surprising turns and a well sustained romantic interest in "Morning Star," the new Journal story telling what happened when pretty Emily Felton's parents decided to pick a husband for her from the list of eligibles in their little southern town.

The first chapter of "Morning Star," appearing Monday, will make it plain that the author, Marian Sims, did not have to rely on others, or on books, for her knowledge of southern background and the setting in which her story unfolds. She was born in the south, in Dalton, Ga., but inherited also from New England, whence came her mother's parents.

The combination of easy-going southern ways and of what she calls her New England conscience "has run her ragged all her life." As a child, she says, her only proficiency was in baseball and riding horseback, and at Agnes Scott college, near Atlanta, she majored in athletics and dramatics and looked with awe at any sort of literary work.

For three years after graduation she taught history and French in Georgia schools and then went into the advertising business, working for a Wisconsin firm. In 1927 she was married and moved two years later to Greensboro, N. C., where she began writing fiction in earnest. Shortly after that she moved to Charlotte, where she has been since.

Mrs. Sims' husband, a lawyer and is president of the Little Theater in which they share a lively interest. Her hobbies are numerous: reading, bridge, golf, swimming, gardening, animals and the theater.

STRIKE LOOMS FOR MONDAY

Soft Coal Miners Are Ordered Out; Peace Plan Awaited

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. (AP)—The country was threatened anew today with the prospect of a call for a soft coal strike Monday morning.

Negotiations between Appalachian producers and the United Mine Workers for a new wage and hour agreement broke down last night for the sixth time in six months.

The present contract expires Sunday at midnight. Unless a new agreement is signed before that time, or the government obtains a sixth extension of the old one, the union, its leaders say, will order its members in the bituminous field to stay out of the mines Monday morning.

The government is trying to avert a walkout. But just what form the government proposal would take remained undisclosed. Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor informed President Roosevelt last night of the situation by telegram.

The miners demand increases in wages.

Cabinet Meets Again On Tuesday As Peace Is Sought By World

ROME, Sept. 21. (AP)—Benito Mussolini's cabinet politely but firmly turned down the League of Nations plan for peace in Ethiopia today.

After a three-hour session, the Italian cabinet of ministers announced it was "appreciative" of attempts by the league's five-power committee to prevent a war, but added it "considers such proposals unacceptable since they do not offer a minimum basis sufficient for a conclusive realization which would finally and effectively take into account Italy's vital rights and interests."

Duce Makes Report
Il Duce, who alone holds eight cabinet portfolios, made a full, up-to-the-minute report of the political and military situation, the communique stated.

Then he explained the league committee's report.

The cabinet examined the proposals attentively but found it could not accept them.

Another meeting of the cabinet was called for Tuesday, at which time leaders hoped the five-power committee would re-shape its program and pave the way for an answer more favorable to a peace-hopeful world.

In keeping with the cabinet's rejection of the peace plan, five ships left Naples for East Africa with 6717 men. Motorized artillery supplies also were on board.

The Italian press declared Great Britain already has "adopted sanctions against Italy" and warned that Italy will be bound to respond whenever Mussolini sees fit.

In political circles, observers pointed out there was a ray of hope in the cabinet declaration, even though it rejected the league committee's proposals.

STATE FEDERAL WORK INSURANCE ACT TO NET $400,000,000

WORKERS AND EMPLOYERS WILL PAY

State Official Estimates Incomes By 1938 Under Two Legislations

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21. (P)—An estimate that the state and federal unemployment insurance acts enacted this year by the legislature and congress will cost California workers and employers about $160,000,000 in 1938 and $400,000,000 in 1949 was made today by Controller Ray L. Riley.

The controller's figures, based on present payrolls, anticipate that by 1938 a total of 4 per cent will be collected from all payrolls and 10 per cent by 1949 under the staggered percentages of the two acts.

Many New Employes Adding to the rapidly expanding state agencies, the act, which becomes effective Jan. 1, will require 2000 or 3000 new state employes to handle the two million or more accounts involved, the controller estimated.

In this direction, Mr. Riley recalled that the new state sales tax enacted in 1933 added $29 per cent to the state payrolls and that new taxes imposed by the 1935 legislature will require still more employes.

Agency to Top All But the new social security agency will top them all except for the department of public works, which has some 5000 employes.

"While the cost of government will be substantially augmented by these new agencies," said Mr. Riley, "it is of little importance when contrasted with the effect of the levies made thereunder upon business throughout the state."

"Beginning Jan. 1, 1936, there must be paid into the fund by employers 1 per cent of all payrolls, the individual employee is required to pay an additional amount equal to 1/2 of 1 per cent. In 1937, the employer pays 2 per cent and the employee must pay in 1 per cent."

$160,000,000 a Year "In 1938 and thereafter, the employers' contribution will be 3 per cent while the contribution of the employee is maintained at 1 per cent. Therefore the total impact of the collection in 1938 will be 4 per cent of all payrolls, approximating $160,000,000 a year."

"In 1937, the old age pension provision of the act becomes effective which will add $80,000,000 a year and in 1940 $120,000,000 a year, making a total collection of $280,000,000 a year."

150 GUESTS SEE DUNNING-WELCH RITES IN CHAPEL One hundred-fifty friends and relatives witnessed the marriage of Miss Barbara Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Austin, Anaheim, and Charles Wesley Dunning, son of Dr. James Edwin Dunning and Mrs. Dunning, 426 South Birch street, last evening at 7 o'clock in First Methodist bride's chapel. Dr. Dunning officiated.

The bride wore white satin, lace mitts and a short tulle veil, and carried an informal bouquet of white sweet peas, asters and bride's roses.

Her sister, Miss Carol Welch, in pink and taffeta with pink roses, was maid of honor.

Edwin Dunning, his brother's best man, sang three solos before the ceremony, with Mrs. Dunning as his accompanist. Herbert Welch and Willard Koenig were ushers. After the rites, the bride couple received the guests in the foyer.

Twenty relatives and intimate friends had dinner at the Austin home. Mrs. Austin had designed the wedding cake, which was bisected with half for the bride and half for her husband, and which was spanned by a narrow bridge on which stood a miniature couple.

The bride couple then left for Long Beach to spend a week, then to return to Santa Ana and live.

Mrs. Dunning is a Pomona college graduate and studied at U. C. Berkeley. Her husband is a graduate of U. S. C., and is doing welfare work in Orange county.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY LEADER HONORED BY DEPARTMENT Congratulations were in order last night at the meeting of the Ernest Kellogg auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars when members learned that Mrs. Glenn D. Hendrickson, president, had been appointed assistant staff officer for the department.

Her duties will include inspection of five auxiliaries, including Riverside, Pomona, Ontario, Corona and Fullerton. She was appointed by Phoebe Meron, department president, from the north of the state.

Today's announcement, although it rejected the current league proposals, spoke of a "minimum basis sufficient for conclusive realization"—which was taken to mean that Italy might agree to discuss modified proposals containing such a minimum basis.

Advantages to Italy The committee's plan was designed to give Italy certain economic and financial advantages in Ethiopia while maintaining the independence of that empire.

It was understood Italy would be allotted the privilege of developing Ethiopia economically and financially, but Ethiopia's independence would be maintained.

France, England Give France and Great Britain were prepared to make certain territorial concessions to Ethiopia in the interests of a settlement.

PROPOSALS TO BE GIVEN 'FRIENDLY CONSIDERATION' GENEVA, Sept. 21. (P)—An Italian spokesman said today the action of Italy's cabinet in rejecting the League of Nations' peace plan implies that revised proposals would receive the most friendly consideration by the Italian government.

The spokesman also asserted the cabinet's communique constitutes the first official recognition of the league's meditations.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation, was said by his countrymen to have been instructed by Mussolini himself to explain the communique in this sense to the five-power committee which formulated the proposals.

Il Duce's "no" dropped on the league like a bomb in an empty house. The league was out to luncheon.

McLauchlan was arrested by Santa Ana police Wednesday night while attempting to sell an asserted communist publication to a Mexican living at 917 Logan street. At the time of his arrest, he was in possession of several publications which assertedly advocated terrorism and gave detailed information on the best methods to use in spreading communist doctrines.

STANTON FACES $65,000 SUIT

State Highway Commissioner P. A. Stanton has been named defendant in a suit for $65,000 started in superior court by the Huntington Land and Improvement company.

The action seeks judgment for $35,000 alleged to be due in the purchase of 16,000 shares of the Bayside Land company by Mr. Stanton in September, 1930. It also requests that Mr. Stanton's interest in the 16,000 shares of stock, as well as 5000 additional shares posted as collateral, be foreclosed.

All property of the Bayside Land company, comprising the major portion of Seal Beach, was recently sold at auction on the courthouse steps to satisfy foreclosure of a mortgage against the property.

Alex Brownridge chairman of the committee said today that speakers have appeared before practically every civic group in the city and while endorsements were not asked, the reaction in every case appeared favorable to the bonds.

On Monday noon the chamber of commerce member meeting is to be devoted to consideration of the school project and the group will have an opportunity to express its position on the bond issue.

Plan 'Open House' The Tuesday night meeting of the high school Parent-Teacher association will be followed by an "open house" at which the public will be escorted through the old buildings which will be replaced by new ones if the bonds carry.

This tour will be designed to show graphically why the school board believes it necessary to replace old structures. They have been branded unsafe from destruction by a major earthquake, in a report by state engineers.

Rolla Hays, school board member, has voiced his belief that the buildings are unsafe and that the people should know about it.

The home of General William Moultrie, noted Civil War figure and the first South Carolinian to plant cotton, has been torn down to make way for the new Santee canal.

The Associated Water Users of Orange county have launched the task of finding a substitute for the county water program on which citizens will vote Oct. 4. Opposing the present plan because they believe the cost is too high, they will seek to discover a cheaper one in the next two weeks which will do the same job.

The organization, headed by A. F. LeGaye, former city councilman, opened offices Thursday at 424 North Sycamore street. Everett A. White, former president of the California Real Estate association, is director of the organization, and John Akerman, proprietor of a local auto laundry, is publicity director.

The organization is financed by about 60 persons scattered throughout the county. Mr. Akerman said today. He declined to name them. Mr. Akerman also said that the association is not the same as the Water Users association which opposed the water program bond election in 1929.

It is hoped that the organization can secure an engineer to provide technical information, said Mr. Akerman. F. C. Finkle, who was employed by the Water Users association in 1929, has been approached in this connection.

The mayor of Lexington, Ky., recently received a letter containing a $50 bill. The money, an accompanying note said, was long past due the city. No name was given.

OIL INQUIRY FUNDS ARE DENIED

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21. (P)—An opinion of the attorney general's office denied to a senate interim committee today the right to use any of the state's emergency funds to finance a new survey of wells in the Huntington Beach oil field.

Senator Olson, Los Angeles, committee chairman, recently appealed to the governor for additional funds to assist the committee in determining whether any other wells than the 88 already known have penetrated the state's tideland oil pool at the Beach.

Arlin Stockburger, director of finances, said the attorney-general held that money could not be transferred from the $1,500,000 emergency fund to augment an appropriation of either house of the legislature, especially in view of the fact that the legislature had specifically set the committee's appropriation at $2500.

The governor, who vetoed a bill which would have permitted the state to lease its tidelands for development by whipstock drilling, has said he favored the idea of increasing the committee's appropriation by as much as $20,000.

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT THE SEPTEMBER 26 SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

For your convenience the answers to a number of questions that may come to your mind are listed briefly below:

1. When is the election?
Thursday, September 26, from 6 A. M. to 7 P. M.
2. What is proposed?
To vote bonds in the amount of $180,000. The Federal Government through the Public Works Administration is asked to supplement the bonds with an outright free grant of $148,000.
3. How much must be repaid?
$180,000. The $148,000 will be a free grant.
4. What buildings will be erected?
An auditorium at Lathrop Junior High School, estimated to cost $105,000.
A 12-room building at the High School, estimated to cost $89,000.
A nine-room building at the High School, estimated to cost $66,000.
A shop building at the High School, estimated to cost $68,000.
5. Why can't we repair the present buildings?
The state law sets $4,000 as the maximum which may be expended without state sanction. Beyond that amount the state safety code must be met. According to expert testimony, to repair these buildings would cost 65% to 70% of the total of new structures.
6. What per cent of the total of $328,000 is estimated for labor?
The government estimate is that 43% will be spent for labor. Therefore, $141,000 of the total will go right back into the incomes of labor in the community. Material is estimated at 57%.
7. Will this complete the High School plant?
With necessary classroom—yes—for years to come.
8. What are the alternatives?
a—Vote the bonds and complete the task.
b—Provide temporary buildings at a minimum cost of $25,000 to $30,000 until other provisions can be made.
c—Build up a reserve from year to year by a tax rate increase of approximately 25c per year. (Plan "a" is the most economical of these alternatives.)
9. Who will buy the bonds?
If the government grant is secured the government will buy the bonds at 4%. We can probably secure an even better market.
10. What if the Federal grant is not secured?
The Board of Education has agreed that the bonds will not be issued unless the grant is secured.
11. If bonds are voted, what will it cost me?
On our present valuation ($27,113,600) it will take a tax rate of 6c to pay interest and principal the first year—about 4c the twentieth year. If your $5,000 home is assessed at 50% of its value, the present policy, these new buildings will cost you $1.50 per year.
12. What do I get for this small sum?
An auditorium at Lathrop Junior High School and a complete, efficient and SAFE High School which ALL the children ultimately use.
13. Who may vote?
Every elector resident of the school district, who is a qualified elector of the county, and who is registered in the precinct where the election is held at least forty days before the election, may vote thereat.
14. What if I have moved?
If you have moved since August 17, 1935, you may vote in your old precinct. If you moved prior to 40 days before the election, and did not change your registration, you will not be eligible to vote.

CITIZENS OF SANTA ANA HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Your Board of Education has proceeded as far as possible in the reconstruction of your schools with monies that have been available. The High School plant cannot be completed and rendered safe unless further funds are obtained. We have the opportunity at this time to secure government assistance to the extent of 45% of the total cost, and we believe it is good business to take advantage of this free grant.

The buildings proposed to be replaced have been declared by state engineers to be unsafe should we experience another major earthquake of the intensity of that of March 10, 1933. A full and complete detailed report from the State Engineer's office is on file in the offices of the Board of Education for the inspection of any interested citizen.

We cannot continue to use the buildings indefinitely in their present condition. The personal responsibility which the state law obligates board members to assume, leaves no other alternative than to vacate them as soon as possible.

Should the bonds not be approved, the only permanent solution appears to be a tax levy. This in time would accomplish the same purpose but at much greater expense to the taxpayer, at considerable delay, and without government help. Such a tax, if levied, would necessitate a 25c tax rate at least, as against a 6c rate to carry the bonds. And under such a plan the local taxpayer would have to pay 100% of the cost as against 55% in the proposed plan.

A make-shift solution—one found most unsatisfactory wherever used—would be to construct temporary shacks or tents while the unsafe buildings are being demolished. These shacks would not only be unsightly, but would be most inconvenient and a menace to the health of our children. And sooner or later, they would have to be replaced anyway.

Your Board of Education has proceeded with all diligence to repair and replace earthquake-damaged buildings in accordance with reports and recommendations of the State Department of Architecture. There still remain on the High School campus three old buildings which must be replaced, and, in addition, it is proposed to build an auditorium at Lathrop Junior High School with a seating capacity of over nine hundred.

This construction plan calls for an investment of $328,000.00 which is to be raised as follows: $180,000.00 by vote of the community and $148,000.00 by outright grant from our Federal Government. Application has been made for the $148,000.00, but if for any reason it is not granted, your Board will not issue or sell the bonds.

We have given a great deal of attention over a long period of time to the consideration of this school rebuilding problem, and we are sincere in our conviction that this proposal offers the best and least expensive solution.

Buena Park's Kiwanians have ideas.

All the time they're doing something or other, but this time they've an idea which, unless we're mistaken, is going to save a lot of kids from spankings.

If you can imagine Kiwanis clubs saving youngsters from their parents' wrath.

Here's what it's all about — Buena Parkers are staging their annual Industrial celebration.

They have a parade, rodeo, carnival, and lots of other things. Everybody knows how it is at a parade—little Oscar wants to see, and he keeps pulling at pop's coat-tails until pop lifts him up on his shoulder. Once gaining such a vantage point, little Oscar is loath to leave, and hangs to the parental hair, nose, and ears to retain his position. Then's when the spanking begins.

Knowing the griefs of childhood, especially when there's a parade, the Kiwanians are staging a program for the kids. They're taking 'em to a spot where parents won't be bothered, and there's entertainment.

Thoughtful, what?

Speaking of Buena Park, the town smells—but it smells good. Before anything drops, we'd better explain.

They have a tomato cannery there. Park your car and sniff while, and pretty soon you'll start smelling tomato soup. It drifts by on stray breezes, not steadily enough to become tiresome—just about right.

So the next time you need an appetizer, pop over to Buena Park.

And then there's the case of the fire chick.

A long time ago we told about Fire Chief Roy Davis in Fullerton and his pet pullet. The young hen adopted the chief, or vice-versa, and they couldn't pullet apart from the fire station after that.

It seems that the story which started as a comedy had a tragic ending.

No, dear reader, the pullet wasn't popped into a pot. As no one'll probably remember, the chief found the chicken wandering on the streets of Fullerton and took her to the fire station. There she showed a great weakness for firemen—the same old weakness of the female for a uniform, I guess.

Anyway, the pullet followed the chief wherever he went. He fed her by hand, and the department was considering making her a permanent member and getting her a uniform, when she suddenly disappeared. No one seemed to know what had happened to the department's pet, until an inquiring reporter cornered Chief Davis.

"She lost her health, probably from too much food," he said, "so we took her to the country."

"She was friendly for a while, and would come running when members of the department called her, but I guess the old hens corrupted her."

So now, when the chief or some of his men go to the country and try to make friends with their former pet, she merely looks at her nose and looks the other way.

So the fire department's sad, more or less.

We learned lots about Wyoming weather in Fullerton yesterday. City Treasurer Charley Johnson was holding an audience breathless, so we went over to see what it was all about, because when you can hold C. R. Allen and Chief Davis breathless, you're doing something.

Charley was telling about the sudden snowstorms in his former state, and we listened until the car was burying its nose into a snowdrift, and the radiator was gradually getting deeper and deeper—and we couldn't stand the cold any longer, and went where it was warm.

They might as well close up Anaheim and Fullerton next week. Looks like a wholesale migration to San Francisco and the state league of municipalities convention there.

From Anaheim, City Clerk Charlie Griffith, City Attorney George Holden, Councilman M. W. Martenet, City Engineer Hap Good, Councilman Leo Sheridan and his honor, Mayor Harry George K. Arthur is also going along, we hear.

Famous Fullertoners going are Mayor Billy Hale, City Clerk Fred Hezmalhalch, City Attorney Al Launer, City Treasurer Charley Johnson and maybe Herman Hiltcher, city engineer.

If every town's that well represented, they'll overflow clear back to Bakersfield—Frisco can hold only so many, even if they are city officials.

And now from city officials, we'll jump to Eskimos.

Some visitor told Harry Welch, down at Newport, that the aforementioned northerners were the only people who could turn over in a kayak while in the water.

Imagine the foolishness of it—Brickdust could have given him lessons any time.

What the visitor meant was turn completely over and still stay in the kayak. Seems that, due to

His Excellency—

The Governor of Minnesota

He was an usher and she was a piano player in one of those old nickel movies. And then they were married. Now he is Floyd B. Olson, governor of Minnesota.

Before that he had ambitions to be an explorer but sold farm machinery in Canada instead. . . . then a lumberjack in British Columbia. . . . and scowman, fisherman, longshoreman, miner and laborer in Alaska. Sometimes he stood in bread lines. The governor (he's known to inmates at the capitol as "Skipper")—returned then to Minnesota, studied law, became Hennepin county attorney, finally governor. He's serving his third consecutive term.

The first two weeks of the lobster season presented the usual problems to both sellers and home-eaters alike. It's the old story of what to do with the "shorts." Somehow the "bugs" find their way ashore in sacks along with the bigger fellows. All of them between ten and a half and sixteen inches are disposed of through the regular channels, but the shorts are finding a market, too. That is the problem facing the Fish and Game Patrol and also Judge Cravath when somebody gets caught with shorts in their possession. . . .

This year more than any other there has developed a fad for sequestering these under-sized tasty tummy-achers from bootleggers, local and otherwise. The technique, apparently, is simple. You speak to so-and-so who has a friend who has a friend that brings them in on the sly. The order is relayed for a dozen bugs to be delivered at your back door at a specified time. Cooked or uncooked, any way you like. Nine times out of ten they arrive on schedule. Money changes hands, usually two dollars for a dozen, and that's a bargain pure and luscious.

The popularity of this modern form of bootlegging is gaining ground by leaps and bounds. In almost any gathering of prominent society folks the secret pass word can be had for the asking. "Just see so-and-so at such-and-such a place." It's that simple. And as for the fish and game patrol catching the lobster bootleggers—well, they'd have to work awfully fast. They frankly admit it's just about impossible, because out in the water the shorts are dumped back in at the first suspicion of danger. Dumped in sacks, of course, that can be pulled up again when the coast is clear. A lobster is legal until he reaches shore. That's why this bootlegging goes on practically unhampered.

It is a racket that appeals to a lot of people, both buyers and sellers. There is in it some of the old-time fascination and downright fun in breaking a law that didn't directly hurt anybody else. Good people and intelligent people brazenly buy illegal lobsters as STANTON.—Started in a small way, religious services held in the Savanna school every Sunday evening for the past two months by the Rev. Claude A. Brown, have grown in attendance to the point that the pastor now has hopes of establishing a church in the near future.

Two meetings are held, both in the evening, one at 6:30 o'clock when the pastor speaks. His topic for tomorrow evening will be "Efficient Ways to Accomplish Great Tasks."

Rev. Brown is a student of religion at U. S. C., and has a year to study before receiving his degree as master of theology. Offering his services to people of the Stanton district is also assisting Rev. Brown to complete his religious training.

readily as they used to buy a pint of moonshine, and consider them selves smarter than the other fellow who paid more money for legal goods. Well, who is there to say they're not smarter—if they don't get caught—but the fact remains that if everybody followed the same line of reasoning there shortly would be no lobsters left in the sea for anybody to buy, beg or steal, legally or illegally. And that's the answer. Somebody has to call a halt somewhere.

No doubt about it, lobsters are about the tastiest thing you can eat these days, if you like them. They're a luxury, true; you buy a lot of shell or crust along with the meat. But look at pork. Don't ever think you don't buy plenty of government crust along with that side of ham.

After October 1, when the season reopens, Judge Cravath threatens to be long on the fines, so it won't pay to buy short in this market!

CLEANING UP THE SPORTS CUPBOARD

Softball post-mortem: Here's a correction on the recently published erroneous revelation about the "divvy" on the Southern California playoff series between Huntington Beach and Colton. Proceeds of the first four games will go directly to the two competitors. All monies taken in at the remaining encounters will be split 50-50 between the National and American league—where it will be divided among the second, third and four-place squads.

Of this split, Santa Ana, as the second team will get 50 per cent. Olive, as third, will get 33 2-3 and Anaheim, fourth, will get 16 1-3. Reason for all this fancy figuring is that it prevents the two title seekers from promoting the series with the object of fattening their own purses. After the first four games they will be playing solely for the benefit of their league mates.

He generally keeps his lips tight and his fingers crossed when it comes to making predictions, but yesterday Journal Sports Editor Paul Wright broke down. "The Cards," he said, "will sail on to the National league pennant and then beat Detroit. And Joe Louis will knock out Max Baer." He might not have been so outspoken had he known his words were going into type.

Talked with Bob McNeish in the dressing room last night after his Pasadena Bulldogs had taken a 13-3 trimming from Bill Cook's Dons. Bob—who was a fellow neighborhood gangman 15 years ago—blamed a young fellow he had recently made over from a running guard into a halfback. The lad, corrected but not chided by Coach McNeish, had been "sucked out" on a couple of pass plays that meant touchdowns for the locals. Bob's brother, George, now a Trojan griddier, was on hand and together they went over the evening's mistakes.

The record boys have been busy getting dust under their fingernails in looking up old marks, since ticket sales on the Baer-Louis thing skyrocketed. They expect a new all-time mark. It appears the Yankee stadium will be enlarged to accommodate 100,000 fight fanatics in which case receipts might reach the $1,200,000 mark—a new peak.

Some indication of the rise in the sock market is seen in the report that $110 is easy to find for a $25 rindside seat.

Mike Jacobs, the promoter, had a hand in the stew in 1923 when 82,000 fans paid $1,188,000 to see the fight. That's the biggest gate in history. Mike was also around when Tex Rickard drew $1,083,000 in witnesses to the Dempsey-Sharkey tussle.

Louis, despite the increasing number of Baer backers, is drawing most of the customers. Baer, of course, as the logical opponent for the 21-year-old puncher, is quite a magnet.

There might, also be a few who go to see Buddy Baer, Max's brother, in his own crossroads fight with Ford Smith, the Pacific coast lad who recently stopped Art Lasky.

Fractious and showy as they may be, the two Dean boys today stand out as the biggest reasons why the St. Louis Cardinals have not been chased out of the National league pennant race. Dizzy has won 27 games thus far and Paul, 19. Paul has equaled his last year's record but Dizzy, working nearly twice as often, is about three wins behind. They have pitched in 17 of the last 20 games and in 10 of the last 11. Upon whether or not these two slab specialists can stop the Chicago Cubs next week depends the Cards' chances of getting in the world's series.

GARDEN GROVE LOSES, 19-13

Blond Blanchard Beatty, ex-Dons mentor, made his debut as Ocean-side High school's head football coach at Garden Grove with success yesterday, his eleven winning from John Ward's County leaguers, 19-13, in a practice skirmish.

Frank Miwa, halfback, scored Garden Grove's touchdowns, Lester Monell converting the last one. Jack Devine, one of Ward's best betas at tackle, may be shelved indefinitely with a kidney injury received during the fray.

Anaheim's champions opened their season with a 7-0 victory over Excelsior Thursday. Orange lost to Santa Ana, 6-0, here yesterday.

The lineups:

Sound Reason For Plan Explained; Mountain Air 'Supercharges'

By EDWARD J. NEIL

SPECULATOR, N. Y. Sept. 21. (AP)—There's plenty of verbal battling going on about it, but Max Baer was determined today to take another leaf from the book of Gene Tunney, the man who never overlooked a bet, and fly down to fight Joe Louis in the Yankee stadium Tuesday night.

Tunney, who also made this tiny Adirondack town a fight camp, flew from New York in a seaplane to the last championship defense of his career, against Tom Heeney, in New York in 1928. He also flew from Stroudsburg, in the Pocono mountains, to Philadelphia for his title triumph over Jack Dempsey in the rain of the Sesqui-Centennial stadium in 1926.

Another Reason

Not until after Gene had retired, was the reason for the flights, during which Tunney was violently sick, revealed.

It seems that Gene had sound medical advice to back his air jaunt. The altitude at Speculator is 2000 feet above sea level. The air naturally is more rarefied than at sea level, where the fight will take place. There is less oxygen in the air in the mountains.

So, doctors told him that during his training his body would acustom itself to the rarefied atmosphere; that when he went down to sea level the increased percentage of oxygen in the air would act like a supercharger on an automobile.

For 12 hours the increased oxygen would act as a stimulant. After that a mild reaction sets in. Baer knows that, and is determined to fly to the fight. But Mike Jacobs, promoting what looks like the $1,000,000 prize fight in New York in eight years, is as violently opposed as Tex Rickard was when Gene broached the subject. But Mike, apparently will have no better success than Rickard did.

"Plane planned to send after you is in the workshop Stop No can use Stop. Suggest take train," Jacobs wired. Max wants to fly, but more than that he wants to win.

"There's a flying junk shop resting on the lake here," he informed Jacobs. "Don't bother about plane in workshop. Will come down in this one."

This assured Baer of flying to New York in the finest, safest, most palatial ship Jacobs can beg, borrow, steal, or even hire.

He'd better not think I'm kidding, either," Max said today. "I'm going by air, and I'm not leaving here until Tuesday morning."

Probably more than anything else he hates the thought of being cooped up in a hotel room in New York for 24 hours, unable to go out because of crowds, unable to entertain because of the fight coming on, not allowed to see anyone.

LOUIS WINDS UP TRAINING TODAY

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Sept. 21. (AP)—Joe Louis' sparring partners today prepared for a final date with their rough playmate before he climbs through the ropes for his battle with Max Baer on Tuesday night.

A goodly crowd was expected to be on hand to see the tan thumper wind up his training and the general belief was that some of the spar mates would sing their training camp swan songs from a horizontal position.

Louis, like Dempsey, doesn't like to pull his punches in training. To pull his punches he will not have to worry about their throwing up the job. They are leaving camp anyway and Joe probably will see to it that they earn their last day's pay.

Outlook at Yale Is Bright—Ducky Pond

(This is one of a series on the prospects of major college football teams.)

By BILL KING

GALES FERRY, Conn., Sept. 21. (AP)—If Ducky Pond can develop about four top flight linemen as he administers regular doses of his famed psychology to his eager Yale football squad, the Bulldogs will again out-fight, out-smart and out-play their "big three" rivals.

This enthusiastic young football director has been drilling 11 impressive candidates at this rowing camp for the past week and today, just before they headed back to New Haven, he described his squad as "the finest I have ever seen at Yale."

"Prospects are much brighter than when we first took hold last year," he said. "Most of the players know much more about the game than they did then and, what is much more important, they are better acquainted with the coaching staff and it with them."

Five of the 11 dependables, inspired by Pond into upsetting the supposedly unbeatable Princeton Tigers before ending in a blaze of glory the following week against Harvard, have departed and another has become ineligible.

But three of the crack backfield quartet are available, Jerry Roscoe, Bernie Rankin and Capt. Jim Whitehead. Clint Frank, a sophomore, seems a worthy successor for Stratford Morton at right half.

Armed with such crack passers as Roscoe and Charlie Ewart, another "brilliant member of last year's freshman team, Ducky Pond has a wide open attack with all sorts of forwards and laterals and he regards himself as highly blessed to have such uncanny receivers as Larry (The Great) Kelley and Bob (Choo-Choo) Train continuing in his end squad and Tommy Curtin with his ball-carriers.

When Kelley and Rankin return from Japan, where, with Dick Cummings, another backfield candidate, they spent the summer with the Yale baseball team, Pond will have a total of 10 lettermen plus an impressive lot of varsity reserves, 1934 scrubs and sturdy sophomores well versed in his methods.

L. NEVA, MURRAY PACE H. B. TO 8-0 WIN AT COLTON

Viciously attacking Pitcher Venn Botts for 15 hits, including two homers, Huntington Beach's National league Oilers whitewashed Colton's American league Reds, 8-0, in the opening game of the Southern California night-ball play-offs at Colton last night.

Confident Joe Rodgers' classy aggregation will go into the second game an overwhelming favorite at Huntington Beach Tuesday. The Oilers already have convinced most followers that Colton, although powerful, will not stand in their way to a second Southland crown.

Louie Neva, Russian star who pitches and hits with equal effectiveness, blasted a homer over the centerfield fence with Leftfielder George Murray aboard for the winning counters in the first. Murray kissed one of Botts' deliveries for a round-tripper with two on in the sixth.

First-baseman Bob Smith and Murray led the hitting parade with three safeties. Manager Rodgers and Henry Thier gathered a pair of bingles. Neva hooked Colton with three insignificant hits, and retired after the sixth to give Southpaw Howard Morning, dean of nightball pitchers, a fling on the mound. Morning held the Reds hitless.

Miss Cruickshank Progresses In L. A. Tennis Play

Miss Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, and her crack doubles partner, Mrs. John Van Ryn, came through a crucial match with Margaret Laird and Patricia Dean with victory, 6-3, 6-3, in the Pacific Southwest tennis tourney in Los Angeles yesterday.

The Santa Ana net queen and John Van Ryn were to play in mixed doubles against Miss Carolyn Babcock and Roderich Menzel, the hard-hitting champion of Czechoslovakia, at 4 p. m. today.

SEALS CLINCH COAST RACE

(By the Associated Press)

"Lefty" O'Doul looked at Joe Di Maggio, his prize San Francisco outfielder, and heaved a contented sigh today. Joe, the come-through kid, won another ball game for the Seals last night and thereby clinched the second-half pennant in the Pacific Coast league baseball race, sending the Seals into the play-off next week against Los Angeles.

Joe's timely single came in the seventh and last inning of the short second game of a double-header with Seattle. It was a rousing double which banged against the centerfield fence and which was followed by Ted Norbert's single which brought Di Maggio home with the winning run. The score was 2 to 1. The Seals had won the opener, 9 to 4, knocking Elmer Donovan for a dozen hits.

HIPPS SIGNS FOR 'TIGER' BOUT HERE

Twice winner over Frankie Herrera, Sailor Hipps today definitely agreed to meet "Tiger" Woods in the feature four round scrap billed at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night. Don Benzon, the Anaheim scrapper who holds a win over the sensational Lupe Cardoza, also agreed to box on the coming program.

BUCS HOLDING KEY TO CUB SUCCESS

Pirate Nine Can Cripple Chicago or Cards in Final Series

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who are not likely to finish higher than fourth in the National league this season, today found themselves in the midst of the torrid pennant battle between Chicago's flying Cubs and the rough and tumble St. Louis Cardinals with a possibility that their actions may decide the scrap.

The Bucs play a pair of games at Chicago today and tomorrow while the Cards play three contests with the Reds. Then Pittsburgh moves on to St. Louis for a pair while the Cubs are idle. After that the pennant rivals meet in a five-game hand to hand combat.

How They Look

After a day of complete idleness for all major clubs yesterday the standing of the Cubs and Cards and the Giants, who haven't been completely eliminated from the race yet, was as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Behind	Play
Cubs	95	52	.645		7
Cards	91	53	.632	2 1/2	10
Giants	84	56	.600	7 1/2	14

If the Cards should go straight through their five games against Cincinnati and Pittsburgh and the Bucs should knock off the Cubs a couple of times to end Chicago's 16-game winning streak, the final series would open with the standing this way:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cards	96	53	.644
Cubs	95	54	.633

That would mean Chicago would have to win four out of five to capture the flag outright while anything better than a 2-3 loss would win for St. Louis. If Pittsburgh should lose two to Chicago and win two from St. Louis, however, even though the Cards trim Cincinnati's fifth-place aspirants, the situation would be far different.

The Cubs would thus gain a three-game lead, needing only one victory to tie and two to win the flag. Further complicating the situation, by trimming both leaders Pittsburgh could give the Giants a bare chance to come through. New York plays seven games against the Braves, five against Brooklyn and two against the Phillies and has only the slimmest kind of chance to cop the flag without winning them all.

Saints Snatch Tussle From Orange Here, 6-0

Santa Ana's Saints are about three weeks away—will an unknown quantity in football after a lack-luster inaugural in which they barely tamed Orange's Panthers, 6-0, before a meager audience at Poly field yesterday.

Blond Bill Foote's preps, out-gaining their non-league rivals 243 1/2 to 97 yards, earned the decision all right, but their aerial maneuvers lacked polish, their charging had little fire, and their blocking was nothing to write home about.

Almost Score Twice

Installed a two-touchdown favorite, the Saints almost cashed in with this exact number of points when Capt. Erwin Youel, his teammates leading 6-0, snaggged a 35-yard pass from Quarterback Len Stafford 20 yards from touchdown territory in the last minute of play. Catching the pigskin on the run, he was overtaken five yards from the goal, and a sharp tackle jarred the ball from his arms. It rolled over the goal for a touchdown.

Santa Ana functioned smoothly and beautifully in only one quarter—the third. Halfback Carroll Joy started the Saints off with a 15-yard gain around right end. On the second play of the next series, Lester Beck, blond halfback, skirted the left wing for a surprising gain of 25 yards. The Saints lost the ball on downs on Orange's 12-yard mark, but came back a few minutes later to tally the only touchdown of the afternoon.

Quarterback Mac Beall, substituting for Stafford, returned Larry Todd's punt 17 yards to the 35, and a pass—Joy to Beall—was good to the 22. Warren (Whitey) Mann, after an unsuccessful toss down the middle, unleashed a low throw over left end, Halfback Joy taking it out of the air a yard from the goal. Mann went over on a line buck for the touchdown. Billie Musick, fullback, failed to convert on a kick.

Santa Ana possessed two royal chances to reach pay dirt in the opening quarter. Joe Crawford, burly guard, recovered Safety Todd's fumble on Musick's kick-off to the Orange 30 on the first play. The Saints earned a first down to the 17, but Larry Timken intercepted a pass on his goal line.

VAUGHAN LOSES STREICH GETS TEN POINTS BATTLE HERE

NEW YORK, Sept. 21. (AP)—The rise of one important big league figure and the fall of another furnished the hitting high spots of the major leagues during the semi-final week of the 1935 season.

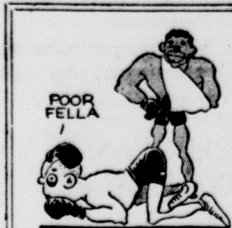

Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics, bidding for the American league crown, came close to his objective as he continued his brilliant spurt for another 10-point gain in the stretch which started a week ago. Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, Fullerton, Cal., boy whose aim has been to lead the National league with a 400 mark or better, ran into a serious slump that seemed to have wiped out his chances. He hit safely only 3 times in 19 official trips to the plate and dropped 10 points to 387.

The first five regulars in each major league follow:

Charley Bachman has another "light" gridiron machine at Michigan State college, much like the 1934 outfit that won eight out of nine games.

PASSES BRING SCORES FOR COOK'S MEN

Herbert Tosses Pair To Walt Hickman And Al Lamb For Tallies

Entertaining the fans with November football in September, dapper Bill Cook's Santa Ana Dons polished off Pasadena's free-lancing Bulldogs, 13-3, on passes at the Municipal bowl last night.

With only eight organized drills behind them, the junior collegians were not expected to accomplish much in the curtain-raiser, but they made an instant hit. Never have the Dons been so spectacular so early in the season.

Races 57 Yards

The game was packed with thrills. Pasadena provided the first one when Ralph Riddle, brilliant Negro end, intercepted Oliver McCarter's pass early in the second quarter and galloped 57 yards through the entire Santa Ana eleven before being nailed by Fullback Dick Moore on the Dons' 13-yard marker. Unable to make any yardage through the line, the Bulldogs called on Riddle to attempt a field goal, and the ball sailed over the uprights to place Pasadena, in the lead, 3-0.

McCarter, shifty freshman from Orange, had reeled off 15 yards through the center of the Pasadena line just preceding Riddle's interception on the Bulldogs' 30, and it appeared as if the Dons were headed for an early score.

Two beautifully executed passes, fired by Joe Herbert, who alternated with McCarter at safety, accounted for Santa Ana's pair of touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

Herbert, cool under fire, got off a 40-yard, quick-kick in the third. On the return of Riddle's punt he carried the pigskin 30 yards to Pasadena's 35. Alvin Lamb, inside half, broke sharply over to the left side, caught a perfect toss from Herbert and raced 24 yards to a touchdown. Herbert converted on an off-tackle run.

The Dons began a second touchdown drive from their own 35 late in the third quarter. Fullback Moore plunged 8 yards off guard, and Herbert shot off-tackle for a first down on the 46.

Herbert to Hickman

Lanky Bob Spray, center who has been converted into a left end, snagged an 11-yard pass from Herbert, and Moore and Herbert ploughed through for three more first downs to Pasadena's 9-yard stripe as the period ended. A fumble put the Dons back to the 13 on the first play of the final quarter but Moore circled left end to the 8-yard line. From there Santa Ana scored on a pass, Herbert to Walt Hickman, Eastern all-conference fullback. Hickman caught the ball over right end, and ran unimpeded to the goal. Herbert missed a running conversion by a couple of feet.

Major (Buster) Anderson, safety, and Fred Erdhaus, rangy end, came in for their share of the honors in the second. The fleet Anderson intercepted a pass from Bill Schuelke, Pasadena's sub fullback, and scampered 22 yards to the Bulldogs' 28. Erdhaus continued the march to the goal with a brilliant leaping catch of Anderson's pass on the 10. Anderson hit guard for a yard, and the gun sounded for the half before the Dons could huddle again.

Fullback Moore, hard-hitting letterman, was the standout ball-packer with 42 yards. An off-side penalty on the Don's fullback, Larry Mitchell, Pasadena Negro started for the invaders with 39. McCarter of the Dons reeled off 29.

Aerials Look Good

Santa Ana had not concentrated on aerial maneuvers in drill, yet it completed five passes for 67 yards. Not one of the Dons tosses was incomplete. Two were intercepted. Pasadena completed only 2 out of 19.

Pomona college varsity will be here next Friday night.

The Curtain's Up! King Football Takes Center of National Sports Scene Today!

NEW YORK, Sept. 21. (AP)—King football crowded into the national sports scene for a two months' reign today.

Most of the opening games were expected to be one-sided affairs for the stiffer tests ahead and some of the smaller institutions nursing a forlorn hope of upsetting their more highly rated rivals and gaining national fame.

In the East, the juggernaut of Holy Cross entertains Rhode Island State at Worcester, Mass., while Chick Mehan will send his Manhattan team against Little Niagara in New York. Villanova takes on Penn Military while Alford meets Adrian.

In the Southwest conference Rice meets St. Mary's of Texas; Southern Methodist faces Denton Teachers; Baylor plays Southwestern; the Aggies meet Stephen F. Austin Teachers and Texas Christian meets Howard Payne.

In the South Davidson takes on Tiny Elon; Hampden Sydney meets V. M. I. and William and Mary meets Virginia while Duke's vaunted power will be tested by Wake Forest. South Carolina meets Erskine and Vanderbilt clashes with Union University.

WOMAN WANTS CUSTODY OF CHILDREN TAKEN BY EX-MATE

Custody of her three children, two of whom are now in possession of her former husband, is sought by Mrs. Alice L. Cruickshank Whitestone in a suit started yesterday in superior court against her former husband, John A. Cruickshank.

Petition for custody of the children was filed after Mr. Cruickshank is alleged to have "waylaid" the two minor sons of the couple as they were returning from school and "by persuasion and force took them from their home and is at present concealing them from her."

The boys, according to the complaint, were taken off the street Thursday by the father who made an attempt to get the 12-year-old daughter, but failed.

Mrs. Whitestone also asked the court to grant a restraining order preventing her husband from removing the two boys from jurisdiction of the court or further attempting to gain custody of the daughter.

Mrs. Whitestone declared in the complaint that she was divorced from Mr. Cruickshank last June in Reno, Nev., and was given custody of the three children at that time. She later remarried.

NEW BENNY FILM AT WEST COAST OPENS TODAY FOR WEEK'S SHOWING

June Knight Featured With Radio Star in 'Broadway Melody'

Jack Benny's new picture, "The Broadway Melody of 1936," most ambitious musical presented this year by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, was to have its opening at the Fox West Coast theater today. It is scheduled to play at the West Coast for an entire week. Songs, dances, Benny at his funniest, together with lavish settings, such as a penthouse in New York where all the furniture disappears from time to time into the walls, girls and weird plot that only Benny can understand go to make the picture an interesting one.

Some of the songs that are heard are: "You Are My Lucky Star," "Sing Before Breakfast," "I've Got A Feeling You're Fooling" and "On A Sunday Afternoon" are sung by Benny and June Knight. The dancing in the picture is overshadowed by Eleanor Powell, called the world's best tap dancer.

"Monkey Love," a color cartoon and a newsreel complete the program.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE GIANT CONTINUES

By Mary Graham Bonner

"If you are not satisfied with this show," the giant went on, "you will receive your money back—every penny of it. But will any of you ask for your money back? No, no, not if I know you, ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls."

"You will marvel at what you are to behold. Not only do you see me, the tallest man to be found in the country around, and not only do you see Willy Nilly, the little man who understands the language of all animals, but you will see four bears. Count them when you get inside, ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls. There are indeed four."

"You will see Rip, the dog. You will meet Christie, the crow given such a name, my friends."

"Because in truth he is one to discover things. Never has a crow lived before with the brains of this one. And you will meet the handsome Tot Notch, the rooster."

"He knows I'm handsome and the crowd will soon know, too." chuckled Tot Notch as he drew forth his little mirror to take another look at himself as he waited back of the curtain.

"Nor is that all. Sweet Fate, the lovely lamb is another treat," cried the giant.

They're Making Broadway Melodious

Back to the Old Burlesque Days

Joe E. Brown is seen in his most lavish picture "Bright Lights," starting tomorrow at the Broadway theater. It is a picture that takes him back to his old stage days when he played burlesque. The female stars in the film are Patricia Ellis and Ann Dvorak.

JOE E. BROWN FEATURED IN 'BRIGHT LIGHTS' SUNDAY

Joe E. Brown started in the show business as a burlesque comedian, and in his new picture, by far the most elaborate yet given him, he again is seen in the same type of role that made him famous. It is "Bright Lights," First National's 1935 bid for the comedy picture of the year, which starts at the Broadway theater Sunday for a four-day showing.

With it also is a new March of Time, a new Pete Smith short subject entitled, "Trained Hoofs," "Hi Diddle," a Terrytoon cartoon and a newsreel.

"Bright Lights" is the story of backstage people. It concerns a burlesque comedian playing in small towns, who suddenly is thrown on Broadway with all his dreams realized. His name is in lights, the world is at his feet.

Of course, along comes a blond, played by Patricia Ellis. She seeks adventure and Brown wants adventure too, when he sees her. The plot concerns the battle between his wife and the blond, which creates riotous comedy. This, coupled with the big-mouthed comedian's acting, much singing and dancing, wisecracks and some pat-thus go to make "Bright Lights" one of the big pictures of the year.

He appeared with his attorney Thursday, and after a conference in the district attorney's office, he was released under $1000 bail. The two who are charged with assisting Mr. Meskimen in leaving the scene of the accident are Joseph Hasner and L. A. Swisegood, both of Long Beach. The accident, which resulted in the arrests occurred when Mr. Meskimen assertedly drove his car into a machine operated by Arthur E. # FEDERAL FUNDS MUST BE PAID FOR DESPITE BONDS VOTE HERE

WIN OR LOSE, TAXPAYERS GET BILL

Money Is Available and Should Be Used for County Flood Plan

By PAUL VISSMAN

Whether Orange county voters approve the $6,620,000 flood control bond issue or whether they turn it down at the polls, they will pay for the government money available to assist the project.

Under the present plan, if the project is approved in Washington, Orange county will receive a grant of $6,374,000 for the project. That amount will be used to match the money raised through the local bond issue.

With the opposition chasing the big, bad wolf, High Taxes through the county to frighten the voters supporters of the bond issue declare it might be well to stop and ponder on the fact that Orange county will repay its share of the government money whether it is used here or elsewhere.

Broken down, the proposed bond issue represents $3,400,000 to be used in securing rights-of-ways for dams and conduits, leaving $3,220,000 as the county's share for actual construction. The entire federal allotment will be used for construction.

With $3,400,000 of the bond issue to be used for rights of ways under the federal requirement that no government aid will be extended to projects unless the property is owned by the county or other political subdivision, it is expected that considerable money will be saved and returned to the county.

One authority said today that a saving of approximately $750,000 is expected in securing rights-of-ways, some of which have already been donated. Another saving already is assured on the project when it is realized that already the county has completed approximately $250,000 worth of the work included in the project.

Much Work Done
This work already completed under State Emergency Relief administration and Civil Works administration projects includes work on the channel from Fullerton to Coyote creek, Carbon canyon and along the Ortega highway.

This work will cut down the expenditures on actual construction and a portion of the saving will revert to the county in proportion to the county's share in the cost.

INTEREST IN LAYTON'S HAT Holds Chest Speakers' Names

Councilman Ernest Layton's hat was a topic of considerable interest today. It was brought into prominence yesterday noon by Glenn Tidball of the Lions club, who addressed a group of Community Chest workers at the headquarters on North Sycamore street.

The reason why Mr. Layton's hat is an object of civic interest is that it assertedly contains slips of paper on which are written the names of all speakers who will make addresses in the Chest fund campaign. Mr. Tidball said yesterday at the Chest meeting.

Mr. Tidball said his own name was on a slip of paper in Mr. Layton's hat and that Mr. Layton, who is chairman of the Chest speakers bureau, drew the slip of paper out of the hat and read Mr. Tidball's name on it. That, said Mr. Tidball, was how he happened to be a speaker at yesterday's meeting.

Another name that Mr. Layton found in his hat was that of A. G. Greene, and so Mr. Greene also addressed the Chest workers yesterday. He did not deny that his name had been in Mr. Layton's hat. He gave a good talk. So did Mr. Tidball, W. H. Spurgeon, jr., who presided, said Mr. Layton's use of his hat worked out well.

Sam Hurwitz, who knows a good speaker when he hears one, remarked:

"Certainly it worked. Anyone who handles a hat uses his head."

U. S. PROFITS FROM STRAY CHAIN LETTERS

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—The federal government is counting its profits from the chain letter craze. About 1500 letters, containing amounts ranging from a dime to $50, lay unclaimed in the postoffice's dead-letter division. Only one contained $50. The average was $1.

V. F. W. IN DEMAND FOR STRICT NEUTRALITY

NEW ORLEANS.—Without a dissenting vote, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, in convention here yesterday, adopted a resolution de-portion to the county's share in the cost. Money obtained through the bond issue will be repaid over a period of 40 years with the tax decreasing annually. The highest estimates fix the tax rate at 22 cents for the first year and a lowering rate from that time on until the last year will see a rate of 9 cents.

County to Pay Anyway
That Orange county will pay its share of the federal allotment whether it is used here or in some other state is verified through statistics recently released by the government.

Recent federal figures revealed that California is one of the major producing states in the nation and that Orange county is one of the most stable tax producers in the state.

In view of these facts, observers interested in the success of the project are wondering whether the voters will decide to derive a lasting benefit from the federal spending program or just pay their share of the expense while another area reaps the benefits.

CIVIC SUPPORT WILL DISCUSS UNIFIED PLAN

Civic support was given the 1935 Parent-Teacher association membership drive in Santa Ana this morning with the following statement from Mayor Fred C. Rowland, endorsing the movement:

"At the opening of the schools of Santa Ana, our attention is again directed to the means of giving our children the best equipment to cope with the problems they must meet during life.

"Education is the necessary qualification to meet these problems, and it is our duty as parents to acquaint ourselves with the means offered to properly equip our children for the serious business of living.

"The Parent-Teacher association offers an opportunity to aid the teachers in the training of our children, and to make the work of the association effective, it is desirable to increase the membership.

"The week beginning Sept. 23 has been designated for a membership drive, and it is my pleasure to urge the prompt and considerate attention of this movement."

Posters made by Mrs. Marcus Lassiter were put in prominent spots in the city, announcing the campaign which will be continued actively throughout the week.

Monday night over KREG, Mrs. James Givens, membership chairman of the Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers, will talk, and a play on the values of P. T. A. will be given.

Slides in the local theaters will advertise the campaign.

"No goals have been set for this year's campaign," Mrs. John J. Mills, president of the Santa Ana council, said. "But we do hope for an increase over last year's figure of nearly 1300."

$ 5,444,000 interest at 4% for 40 years amortization included.
$12,064,000.....total cost of bond issue to taxpayers

The Associated Water Users invites you, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer, to give a moment's calm consideration to the above figures. This is only one item we would like to call to your attention at this time. The Associated Water Users of Orange County is not a radical organization, but a group of taxpayers which feel that such a large added sum to the already large tax burden is unwarranted by facts and figures.

We know that the time is short; this fact will make our task harder and the need for caution greater. The county, in order to receive the Federal Grant requested, will have to begin preparations on all projects not later than October 12th. The only course left to Orange County voters is to defeat the bond program in its entirety. There is not time for revisions or change of plans.

The Association has appointed a committee to secure full information and facts to be placed before the public in order that both sides of the problem will be heard and we will not be side-stepped into assuming a back-breaking additional tax load.

The Cook's Own Corner

The Journal wants to give its readers at least one tasty tried-and-true recipe each day.

CHOCOLATE BUTTER ICING

By Mrs. Victor Montgomery

Yolk of 1 egg, 3 cups powdered sugar, 1/4 cup butter, 4 tsp. grated chocolate, 4 tsp. hot coffee. Cream butter and sugar, add egg yolk, dissolve chocolate in hot coffee and when cool add to sugar, butter and egg. Spread between layers of cake and over top and sides.

'If In Doubt'

H. U.: Artichokes are always eaten with the fingers; a leaf at a time is pulled off and the edible end dipped in sauce and then bitten off. The thistle part is scraped away with a knife, the edges are cut and the heart is eaten with a fork.

Nice Women Don't Smoke and Drink, Charges Woman in Attack on Sophistication

By MARY STODDARD

Sophistication takes another blow today in a letter from Jennie who denounces the modern note which Anne took recently in advising her young friend to be less a prude and more of a person. Defending the conventional, simpler life, this letter attacks Anne's base attitude and makes a strong defense for religion and old-fashioned homes.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I wish to speak to Anne, who is worried over her friend.

Anne's letter is a very life-like picture of Anne's real self, outside and inside. I'm sorry for her and her warped ideas of the most sacred things of life—mature womanhood and real motherhood. They will ever be above the purely carnal and the satisfying of the lower desires of the flesh, or appetite, or vanity. Anne, in reality your husband hasn't much discrimination and some day you both will find out that you have taken the foam and the dregs and have never tasted the real "good" things of life.

You Don't Know

In reality you don't know the meaning of good times or good music. Your own words prove that. For when you hear real good music, it makes you think of God and feel His love and purity, and unselfishness instead of the physical and sensual or jazz or rhythm.

The true meaning of the word "good" is just the opposite to the word "evil." So when you think you can have a good time, as you call it, only by having cocktails, dancing, lower morals—liquor or smoking—you surely are having a time. But the word for it is "high" or "low" not "good." You are selfish when you think of your lower desires, to satisfy yourself and do not consider the effect of liquor and cigarettes on mothers and unborn babies, and their terrible results.

Cigarettes Kill Babies
Out of 16 babies recently born under the care of a prominent physician, he states that 14 were born malformed, foolish and crippled or abnormal—and died immediately. Another prominent physician stated that by his records—babies born to smoking mothers were scarcely ever living after the two-year age.

Babies born also to smoking mothers, who die at their birth, usually have to have nicotine put in their milk bottle as they have absorbed so much from the mother that they have the craving and nervous trouble.

They're Bad Influence
And Anne, you are saying that these women are the highest class of women today.

It's a pity that so many "high class" women are so selfish and thoughtless. They can influence more people to live their way, than the low class, "red light" women. For young people don't pick out a lowdown drunkard, evil woman, as their type to follow—but try to follow the "elite." So you will have a big influence to answer for some day.

JENNIE.

SANTA ANANNE RETURNS HOME FROM JOURNEY

Mrs. Carrier Carver, long-time resident of Santa Ana, who left last May for New Mexico and visited in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa before returning home, arrived in Santa Ana last Saturday and since has been "doing" the fairs.

Mrs. Carver went to San Diego last week-end, saw the exposition, returned home and went to Pomona Wednesday to see the Los Angeles County fair. She went to Pomona with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon.

FRED MERKERS ARE HOSTS AT DINNER PARTY IN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merker entertained informally in their home on North Ross street with a buffet supper party for 20 of their friends before the Comus club party Thursday evening.

After dinner the group adjourned to the Orange Legion clubhouse for dancing.

Bridal Path Chosen By Two Girls

Down the bridal path is the theme song for the two smiling girls pictured above.

Miss Vera Levens is to be married Saturday evening, Oct. 5, in First Methodist church bride's chapel to Alvin Rebin, Santa Ana athlete. Her recent engagement announcement has inspired a series of pre-nuptial parties. Her wedding is to be a quiet one, with only members of the two families in attendance.

Mrs. Melvin C. Goodchild was Miss Ruth Potter before her marriage last Sept. 1 in Long Beach at the home of the Rev. William Perry, who 26 years ago married the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodchild of La Habra. Mrs. Goodchild is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Potter of Anaheim and has a wide circle of friends throughout Orange county.

FASHION SHOW OF Y. L. I. ATTRACTS RECORD CROWD

All the entertainment that a bridge party and fashion show could offer was achieved last night at the Y. L. I. benefit at the Ebelle clubhouse.

Fifty-one tables of cards were in play. Table awards were given to high-score holders and special prizes given to A. C. Wakefield, R. C. Dieter, E. D. Barlett, Mrs. Walter Giesler and Jack Gold.

Twenty doll tables, dressed in woolen frock and hat, were given the guests for their scoring. Baskets of flowers were used throughout the hall to decorate.

Explaining the modern note in fall clothes, Duane Crool, style specialist from Glendale, announced each ensemble as the models appeared in the fashion parade. A student of men's styles for nine years, Mr. Crool was obtained for the master of ceremonies' job by Walter Swanberger, who furnished the men's clothing.

Women's frocks were from Katherine's Ready to Wear, with accessories from Rankin's, shoes from Peterson's, and furs from Alice Duhring.

Models were the Misses Virginia Berry, Ann Tarver, Nan Mead, Alice Forney and Gertrude Gross, and Mrs. Phil Smith, Mrs. Burt Zaiser and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, who supervised the entire show. Men who modeled were J. Riley Huber, Dr. Stanley Norton, Dick Ewert and Phil Smith.

Incidental piano music was furnished by Mrs. G. Gross.

Frocks in evening dresses, the committee serving under Mrs. R. H. Sandoz and Mrs. Leslie Harrison, co-chairmen, included Mrs. Urban Engelman, Mrs. E. D. Bartley, Mrs. Ray E. Burns, Miss Eugene Hitt, Mrs. Thomas Giesler and Mrs. William L. Faulkner, and the Misses Mary Louise Dierker, Carmela Italiano, Louise Comito, Nurva Dressler and Nellie and Aline Colombini.

The tallies had been made by Mrs. J. Henry Lippitt and her assistants including Mrs. Emil Wetzel, Miss Dierker, Mrs. A. L. Steward and Miss Helen Johnson.

The hostesses served dessert.

FRANKLIN P. T. A. TO MEET TUESDAY

In the nature of a reception for teachers, the opening meeting of the Franklin Parent-Teacher association will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the kindergarten rooms of the school.

A speaker will talk on the bond election. Parents are urged to attend.

MOTHERS' CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Opening the fall season, the Mothers' club of the First Congregational church will meet Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the home of the club president, Mrs. Georgia Bradley, 309 East Walnut street.

A paper bag luncheon will be served at noon. Sewing, a short program, and the reunion of members is scheduled for the program.

PATTERN 9601

Surely no Junior Miss can resist the girlishness of this smart two-piece frock, which earns it "board and keep" by being such an economy. Practical for school in a washable cotton tweed, or dressy enough for an evening date in one of the new metallic-shot woolsens, with velvet bow and belt. Admiring glances are sure to come its way. Isn't the cut of the shoulder line unusual? The blouse, with darts front and back, is separate, you know, so its pleated skirt may accompany many different blouses. Complete, Diagrammed. Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9601 may be ordered only in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 12 requires 2 1/4 yards 54-inch fabric and 1/2 yard 5-inch ribbon. Send 15c in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

The New Marian Martin Pattern Book is ready now! 40 pages... color illustrations... dozens of easy-to-make pattern designs—for every occasion and all your family, this whole fall and winter! Special slenderizing patterns, step-by-step sewing lessons, lovely gifts easy to make. Fabric and accessory news. Practical advice on choosing clothes. Send for your copy now! Price of book 15c. Book and pattern together, 25c.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana.

TEAPOT TATTLE

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

The Thinkers are soon going to discuss the value of women friends to women.

Frankly speaking, haven't you often said or heard one of your feminine friends say: "I don't know why, but I have more real men friends than women friends... men seem to be so much farther about things..." (etc.)

The Tattler pleads guilty with some of the rest of you. Well, perhaps the theory is wrong.

We learned in the course of a conversation the other day that an intimate little Santa Ana club, the Chat'n Seau, will celebrate its twenty-second birthday anniversary this fall.

Ever since their school days, the Chat'n Seau-ers have been meeting every other Monday for an evening of needlework and conversation—the two lost arts now gradually being revived by society in general.

There must be a friendship that slanders or suspicion, newer interests or conflicting activities could not spoil... their assurance that they can entrust their joys and sorrows alike to each other. Surely, theirs is a goal toward which other such groups may well aim.

Seldom outside the covers of best-sellers do man-woman friendships endure. Fifth century as have the friendships formed in the Chat'n Seau circle. Perhaps there's a lot more lasting joy to be gained from friendship among women, and perhaps if we worked harder, we'd gain more genuine feminine loyalties.

In the 22-year club are Mesdames Walter Coker, Fred Merker, Harvey Gardner, Claude Sleeper, Frank Hammett, Joe Giesler and Warren Hilliard, now in Santa Ana, Miss Gertrude Potts, en route around the world, and Mrs. Harold Nelson, who's gone back to her home in Florida after a year in Santa Ana. Mrs. Leon Dickey and Mrs. Carl Edgar are more recent additions to the membership list.

Chat'n Seau we salute you!

Today's puzzle: What popular couple in Santa Ana's younger social set will soon name the date for their "I do's"?

Speaking of world-journeers, we list among the first and foremost of these parts Dr. Peryl Magill, whose charming personality is enhanced by the countless interesting bits of information she's picked up in far-off countries and which "happen" into her conversations every now and then... she has a lovely garden, too, so she doesn't forget her home because of her wanderlust... and among travelers is another individual, Mrs. Susan Rutherford, who with Mrs. W. J. Huff, also of Balboa, left this week for a motor jaunt through the United States... Mrs. Rutherford's penchant for travel is well known to all her friends, and she, too, is richer in personality because of the opportunities which have been hers to travel far and near.

A little towheaded boy, 11, wandered into a local business place and inquired the main highway to San Diego. His informant, E. N. Lillard, suspected a runaway, and questioned the lad.

En route from Oklahoma City to San Diego, a young traveler ran out of money and had hitch-hiked nearly half the way.

Mr. Lillard invited him home for dinner and to stay overnight, and put him on a San Diego-bound bus yesterday morning with a ticket.

The local benefactor will probably be surprised to see his story "told in print," but we think it's a pretty grand thing he did!

Did you know that we in Orange county live in the region called "Paradise Valleys"?

Neither did I, but we do, and Monday morning, Sept. 30, at 9 o'clock in The Norconian, hotel-resort at Norco, the Paradise Valley's Breakfast club will have its first breakfast, to which we're all "cordially invited."

If you want to attend, with no expense other than the price of the breakfast, you must go to The Norconian and say so by Friday. Artists and speakers will be there, and there'll be music. Sounds fun.

Today we toast: Cecil Fross Willis, who in homelife is Mrs. Thomas Willis, because in addition to being a clever and popular musician, she's a successful mother and homemaker, and has many, many friends.

Personal glimpsings: We introduce the Lewis sisters, Jeannette and Marie, blond and brunette, who are different in likes and dislikes... Elma (Mrs. George) Bradley, whom we list as one of the best-liked and most attractive of local young matrons... then there's Barbara Duntun, whose becomingly tanned skin doesn't fade out with the winter months... and Lois Courtney, whom her friends admire for her Dresden appearance and dainty mannerisms.

About Harper Goff... whose marriage calls forth from The Tattler sincerest congratulations... he's one individual whose talent made itself manifest early, and increased with passing time. When we were both in Lathrop Junior High, Harper did a richly-colored poster on "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," then popular motion picture, whose design is still vivid in my mind. He had even then the ability to draw and paint swiftly and effectively... and his personality clicks, too.

June Wedding Announced By Couple

Informal announcement has been made this week to various of their friends concerning the marriage last June 15 of Miss Charlene Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogan, Los Angeles, and Ben E. Tarver, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben E. Tarver, 2510 Valencia street.

The bride received her education in the Elliott School for Girls. Her husband was prominent in athletics in the Santa Ana High school and is now employed by the Times-Mirror company in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Tarver are guests at the Ben E. Tarver family home, but late next week they expect to move into the new home which they are furnishing, at 1321 North Flower street.

BIRTHDAYS FETED AT FIDELIS CLASS MEETING THURSDAY

Birthday compliments were extended to Mrs. O. S. Catland, teacher of the Fidelis class of the First Baptist church, Thursday afternoon when the class gathered in the gardens of the home of Mrs. William H. McMurphy on North Flower street, Orange.

A large birthday cake was cut by Mrs. Catland in observance of her birthday this month, and honors shared with Mrs. Minnie Cole, Mrs. O. E. Erickson and Mrs. Walter Lamb, who also are observing birthdays this month.

A purse was given to the teacher from the class.

Explanation of the unified morning service was made by the Rev. Harry E. Owings. Vacation experiences were related for the program for the remainder of the afternoon.

Mrs. Elmer Steffensen told of her experiences fishing in the High Sierras and of a visit to the "big trees." Mrs. Mit Phillips visited the Yosemite; Mrs. Platt and Mrs. McMurphy the San Diego fair; Mrs. A. M. Robinson the Northern Baptist convention at Colorado Springs, stopping at Bryce canyon, Grand canyon, Zion National park and Boulder dam.

Mrs. Meyer gave an interesting description of Carlsbad cavern in New Mexico, which was one of many places visited on their motor trip as far east as Minnesota to attend a large family gathering, and Mrs. J. R. Farwell told of her motor trip to Lake Tahoe, Santa Cruz, Mono lake, Yosemite National park and the "big trees."

The gathering was attended by Mesdames O. S. Catland, Marie Klingenberg, H. A. DeWolfe, A. M. Robinson, W. E. Talbot, I. L. Marchant, Walter Lamb, Grace McDonald, Sude Joiner, Burnie Bagwell, W. J. Moore, Mrs. Sarah Du Bois and the houseguest of the hostess, Mrs. Claudia Thorne.

DORIS HUNT IS COMPLIMENTED BY MRS. LIGHTHALL

Mrs. G. S. Lighthall entertained at an attractively appointed surprise party Thursday evening in the home of her mother, Mrs. Daphne Leabo, 1303 South Main street, in honor of Miss Doris Hunt, who is to be married Oct. 6 to Lee Hamilton.

Whoopie was played, and prizes went to Mrs. Clifford Hamilton and Miss Barbara Dohm.

Pink and white flowers and linens lent a gay note to the rooms when the hostess and her mother served dainty cakes, sandwiches and coffee. Ivory tapers in fluted pink white holders centered the small tables, and miniature bridal couples were favor-placecards.

In the adjoining room, a festive lace-laid table was bordered by flowers and ferns and centered with a pastel shower parasol concealing the shower gifts for Miss Hunt.

Other guests were Mesdames Kimball Pratt, Rollo Sudduth, Minnie Tucker, J. E. Hunt and W. L. Hamilton and Misses Karla and Kristine Nielson, Pauline Winslow, Yvonne Fickas, Frances Philbrook, Clare Goeman, Nell Laub, Vera Williams and Dawn Hunting.

THIMBLE CLUB HAS MEETING AT HOME OF MRS. D. W. ELLIS

Mrs. D. W. Ellis was hostess to the Thimble club of the Native Daughters of Golden West Thursday at her home in Greenville. A covered-dish luncheon was served at noon on the lawn of the Ellis home. The group sewed on aprons and tea towels during the afternoon. Mrs. Mae West modeled some of the frocks that will be sold this fall at the association's bazaar.

SORORITY LEADER

Mrs. Ed Sugden, Sigma Tau Psi sorority president.

Sigma Tau Psi Rush Season In Swing

With pretty Mrs. Ed Sugden at the helm, members of Sigma Tau Psi sorority are steering a busy course through their rush season, which began last Sunday with a tea in the home of Miss Georgia Turner on Greenleaf street, continued with a dinner party given Thursday evening in the home of Miss Eloise Wright on Cannon lane, Fullerton, and will be climaxed Sunday, Oct. 6, by a pledging breakfast in Hotel Laguna, Laguna Beach.

Last evening, Mrs. Sugden was hostess in her home on West Chestnut street at a business meeting of the chapter.

Thursday evening, Miss Wright's home provided an attractive setting for the rush dinner party. Mrs. A. G. Wright assisted her daughter in preparations for the dinner, which was served on bright-hued pottery in the rustic summerhouse of the residence.

Miniature Mexican sombrero marked the guests' places. Two pottery bowls of polished autumn fruits added to the decorative effect. Fifteen guests were present in addition to the chapter members. Assisting on the committee were Mrs. Sugden and Mrs. Tommy Jentges.

Other hostesses were Mesdames Woodie Barnett, Herbert Hill, Roy Grier, Tommy Jentges, Ray Buxton, Roy Kipper, Robert Reed and Bruce Vegely and Misses Marjorie Berkner, Virginia Berry, Harriet Chapin, Bethel Dickenson, Genevieve Glover, Jane Hill, Lucy Holmes, Carol House, Lucille Howell, Alyce Majors, Mary Emil Majors, Elizabeth Meyer, Betty Royland, Jenn Rowland, Louise Leck, Mary Jane Sturgeon and Virginia Swiggers.

After dinner, the time was spent in playing cotille. Misses Miriam Samuelson and Fern Berkner won prizes.

HARPER GOFF WEDS ART STUDENT IN LOS ANGELES

Culmination of a romance begun when both were students in Los Angeles was the marriage last Saturday in Los Angeles of Miss Florence Newcombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Newcombe of Canby, Ore., and Harper Goff, son of Mrs. Frank Wilsey (Mrs. Maude Goff) of Santa Ana.

Mr. Goff was prominent in art activities in Julia Lathrop Junior High school, Santa Ana. A high school and junior college art school and public speaking, for instance, Chouinard, and now is doing art work and stage setting designs for Warner Brothers studio. He and his bride, who is a graduate of Oregon State university, are living in Hollywood.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

What means can you suggest to help young people in the attainment of social self-possession? Mrs. G. E. Bogart: Getting before the public, through debating or public speaking, for instance, is very valuable training for young people. Through entering into plays and other school activities, youngsters tend to gain poise, too.

Mrs. Harold Pickering: I think the study of dancing or dramatics helps children to gain self-assurance. It's very necessary for young people to have poise and assurance to get along with others.

Mrs. Charles Robinson: Young people need to be started very young, having social contacts, not only with those of their own age, but with older people of the community who have culture and refinement. Parents should see that young people attend gatherings of this sort occasionally. I think that music also unites young people and gives them a feeling of self-possession.

To John Barrymore:

Just what is this power you have over women?
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Will Gallienne, Huntington Beach:

Your C. of C.'s idea about beautifying your community is fine. Planting more trees can't hurt any town.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Assemblyman Jimmy Utt:

Here's hoping that your investigation of the mule-tail deer near Mt. Shasta is profitable—more profitable than some other assembly investigations.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Santa Ana's Merchants:

You did an excellent job of the fall fashion show. Mrs. Orange and the children "did" all the windows enthusiastically. The next day it rained—bills—for
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Stanley M. Reinhaus:

Congratulations. They tell me your recent election to a vice presidency on the board of governors of the state bar association is but another rung in your tall ladder of achievements.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Mrs. T. L. Warren:

Twenty-five years of service as recording secretary of the Orange county Women's Christian Temperance Union, followed by re-election to the 26th year is an enviable record. White Ribbons to you and the cause which you serve.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Dr. C. G. Huston, Costa Mesa:

Your idea of protecting children on their bicycles and scooters by converting the old P. E. right-of-way along Newport boulevard into an exclusive highway for the youngsters is a good one. One life saved will make the expense worth while.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Santa Ana Ebell and Woman's Clubs:

Success to you in the new year you'll be starting early next week! With clubwomen interesting themselves in civic as well as social programs, we husbands can forgive an occasional note on the ice box door from an absentee, club-going wife.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Santa Ana's Nightball Team:

Honor in defeat is yours. You boys overcame a tremendous handicap to catch up with the championship Huntington Beach team. Joe Rodgers and his gang will beat Colton so badly for the Southern California title that you will at least be the second best team in the business.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Jack Lloyd:

Sorry your other duties have necessitated your resigning the secretary-treasurership and librarianship of Cantando club. Your record of unbroken attendance and faithful service is unsurpassed in Cantando membership. You've set a high standard for your successor to follow.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Senator Nels Edwards:

Seems to me I remember something about an assertion you made relative to Supervisor N. E. West's charge that the Huntington Beach oil controversy was a greater oil scandal than Teapot Dome. As I remember it you were going to require Mr. West to prove his charges. Mr. West hasn't retracted a thing he said. Shouldn't he do that or admit he was just fooling? As the question stands now the public thinks both of you were just talking.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Congressman Sam Collins:

Well Sam, how you doin'? Haven't heard much about the help you're giving the flood control project lately. Blessed if I can see why you didn't stay in Washington and give the supervisors a lift when they went back there to get the army appropriation. By the way, how do you stand on that question? And will Mr. Hopkins, now that he has a free hand as works relief administrator, help shove it along or will he just spend that four billion raking leaves? Kinda hankerin' for some of your expert opinion, Sam.
COL. V. ORANGE.

To Business Leaders:

May I suggest that the community relies a great deal on your judgment in matters pertaining to city and county finances? And, that being true, may I further suggest that you give both school and flood control issues the same careful study required in your private business affairs? If you go into every detail thoroughly and still do not see your way clear to get behind either or both, you will be in position to say definitely why and you will leave no opportunity for anyone to say you have neglected a civic duty. You may be classed among the studious conservatives but no one can truthfully call you indifferent obstructionists.
COL. V. ORANGE.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Purely personal piffle: Zero in amusement: Surf bathing after dark. Elsa Maxwell shows all of them her heels in dashes to Page One. Last of the rowdily capable press agents: Richard Maney. A column I never miss: Louella Parsons' movie chatter. Grand yarn spinner: Harry Evans. Favorite column title: Hannen Swaffer's "Beautiful London Yesterday."

Nobody fingers a pipe so fondly as Howard Chandler Christy. When anyone sneezes, my younger Boston jumps into his lap and cocks his head quizzically. Pierre Cartier looks as every man hopes to—but doesn't—in evening dress. Only fare tempting me between meals is a plate of fresh ginger snaps and a glass of cool milk. And afterward I nearly swoon for a cigaret. Try to order pear preserves in any New York restaurant. One of the handsomest men in the movie business, Waterson Rothacker, is not an actor. Cole Porter is least self-conscious in the celebrity parade. John T. McCutcheon has exerted the greatest influence on contemporary cartoonists. The only heavy chain cigaret smoker I ever knew to quit overnight was Henry L. Doherty. Grand name for an Irish boy: Shannon.

Top in boredom: An evening in a night club. Disraeli's reputed, "No man is a hero to his valet," was first remarked by Carlyle, before that by Goethe and before that by Hegel. Under an ice cold shower, I turn the blue of corn flower. But what can one expect of one red corpuscle? A gettable spiritual surge: Walking down a cobble-stone street in the moonlight at 2 a. m. toward the Rouen cathedral. When I want to kill off a terrific hunger I go to Lindy's. And shoot the works—from meat ball soup to two decker lemon pie.

First woman playwright I ever met was Rida Johnson Young. Sid Solomon is my favorite epithet hurler. Any time I try to select a hat the whole store begins to whoop and holler. Twinkling eyes—Mrs. Keats Speed. Unusual profile—Libby Holman. Most typical American gesture: The seventh inning stretch. The nearest to fainting was when a squirrel hopped on my shoulder from a bough in Central park. I ran sideways until I fell.

Henry Sell had a group of fortune tellers searched after a party and recovered two wallets, three vanity cases and several articles of jewelry. They just laughed. Add contrasts: Roy Howard's cubbyhole office in the old World building and his expansive modernistic Park avenue suite today. There should be red faces over Oliver Herford's last days. Thrills that always repeat: Gulls racing out from the Irish coast and the glide into Grand Central after long absence. A most thoughtful friend: Bob Brinkerhoff. Food aversion: clam chowder. Idea to banish: ennui. When Charles E. Driscoll becomes fed up with New York he phones an airport, finds when the next aeroplane leaves on the longest flight and takes it. He wound up once in Peru. Greatest softie among the hard boiled eggs: W. C. Fields. They are over press-agenting Grace Moore.

Nobody has been hammered so mercilessly along Broadway and comes back so unruffled as Earl Carroll. He can take it! Something the yokel misses in the big town: The high chair Sunday morning shine in front of the hotel. Most agonizing first night flop over ever witnessed: Opening of Music hall. But now look! Twice I've started to buy an accordion but got cold feet. Fascinating at 5 p. m.—the barber-shop of a deluxe hotel. Ichiest of literary names: Lytton Strachey.

In our town we called canapes doodads. Only article of jewelry I never lost is a 15-cent necktie clasp. Mind over matter note: Passing a chemist's window full of sponges makes Seymour Hicks break out in a rash. Nothing expresses holy-toity like that Harlem term, "diddy." Only the Gish girls could come back from Paris wearing those comical hats and retain dignity. Well, Mrs. Vincent Astor might. For 18 karat size-ups of snootiness in smaller cities: Katherine Brush. Most hilarious bon voyage gift: The goldfish in a bowl sent Noel Coward. How many can name Marilyn Miller's husband right off? Rube Goldberg, doing a series for the Red Book, drops cock-eyed hilarities for themes serious, sensitive, poignant. File on the wrong guess hook: Broadway's prediction the marriage of Barbara Stanwyck and Frank Fay would crack up in two months. After a shave with an old fashioned razor, my wife sniffed: "You would find a barbed wire fence to crawl through!"

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"It only looks like gangsters, ma, but honest we're playing G-men."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Some of the most worth-while of New Deal projects continue to be buried under a cloud of petting-bickering. They make under stories for the newspapers, but a poor showing for the public.

Such is the short history of the National Youth administration. Behind the scenes, it is doing a bang-up job. But its personal animosities threaten to hide the truth.

Both amusing and tragic is the fact that the bickering hinges on such all-important things as pride, a pet project and lack of sleep.

Chief bickerers are Aubrey Williams, hard-driving, relentless chief of the youth administration; and John Studebaker, industrious, visionary commissioner of education who thought he should have been.

Originally, Studebaker helped plan the job, felt that the education of the youth should come under his bureau, groomed himself as administrator. But he made one grievous error.

In a memo to the President outlining his plans for the youth administration, he mentioned the CCC as something which the new project should not follow. That he threw in a gratuitous crack at the CCC.

Naive and new in Washington, little did Studebaker realize that he had stepped upon the President's prize pet. But he knew it later. Roosevelt considers the CCC his greatest achievement, and he flatly refused to let Studebaker handle the new youth administration.

AMBITION STUDEBAKER is a conscientious little man, who once achieved big things by conducting a forum in Des Moines, and would like to do the same for the entire country. But when Roosevelt took away his youth toy, he was like a small boy. He threatened to resign.

Whereupon Roosevelt handed him another toy—fulfillment of the dream of a nation-wide forum. It was to be financed from youth administration funds for the youth of the nation. But Studebaker was to be in charge.

He was jubilant. It happened at this time that Aubrey Williams had been up for several nights trying to rescue veterans from the hibernian bed in Florida. He was half dead from loss of sleep.

When Studebaker announced plans for taking away a large slice of his youth money, Williams said: "Hell, no!" and the President, having given him a free rein, stood by him.

So once again Studebaker was left out in the cold.

PROGRESS DESPITE this, the youth administration has plugged ahead. It has pretty well shunned politics. It has belied the original criticism that it would be a Democratic vote-getting proposition.

It will mail 300,000 checks to youngsters in schools and colleges during the first two weeks of October. And in contrast with most New Deal projects, it is handling overhead administration on only 3 per cent of its total grant.

Chief originator and background executive of the youth administration is Charles Taussig, an original brain trust, and one of the few who learned the lesson that publicity always kills a ghost-writer. A lesser former brain trust No.

Santa Ana's four grammar schools and high school will open their doors to the students Sept. 26, with the following acting as principals in the school: W. A. Bartlett, high school; J. J. Mr. and Mrs. Ed McFadden, children and mother, and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Redmond and children spent Sunday at Newport Beach.

Mrs. S. M. Davis and children are at home from West Newport where they spent the summer.

Mrs. E. M. Bowes was hostess yesterday to the Past Matrons club, Order of Eastern Star. Those present were Mesdames J. R. Medlock, W. M. Clayton, W. S. Peek, H. H. Reeves, T. A. Winbiger, W. L. Tubbs, R. E. Dickenson and H. S. Gordon, and Misses Mary Cotter and Pauline Reinhaus.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is a very analytical data feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Fires of Folly—Arming the Pacific

A CONGRESSIONAL military committee has been junketing around this Pacific area. Returned from its pleasure jaunt to Hawaii, these busy investigators make solemn predictions and formulate plans for elaborate defenses. Probably no military committee ever set forth on a sight-seeing tour without getting apologetic over the lamentable condition of our crumbling strongholds. Everything is obsolete, covered with dust, and not fit to scare away the crows. They conjure up weird phantoms riding on the wings of the wind. Meanwhile, the Swiss navy, the Fiji marines, and bombing planes from Timbuctu are ganging together to blow us to gibslets.

TO REPEL the scheming invaders the defense of Hawaii will swallow up yet further millions of money. Pearl Harbor will be an unapproachable fortress and the "Paradise of the Pacific" will bristle with death.

To give invaders a warm reception if they should get past this first line of defense, Catalina, lovely Santa Catalina, is to be loaded with war machinery. San Clemente, prey of whipping winds and lashing surf, is destined to tremble under more fearful boomings than issue from unleashed elements.

And gray monsters of the deep will wallow their roaming way while their belching tubes shake the continental hills. 'Tis a great game. Guns roar, windows rattle, thunderous echoes roll to the treble horizon, the frenzied populace cheers a welcome and pays the bills to the tune of five thousand dollars per boom.

IF THERE be any one portion of this old groaning earth where war is not even remotely probable it is this same Pacific area. Only the schemings of madmen, the fearfulness of the superstitious, the imaginings of overwrought nerves, the designs of professional trouble-makers can brew a serious quarrel when no occasion for quarrelling exists.

But congressional committees, departments of war and navy, divisions of aerial warfare, gold-braided manipulators—all the varied assortment of hunters that worry the life out of the dove of peace—must justify their racket. They must do their utmost to make the world safe for something or other.

STRANGE indeed that we complain bitterly about unbalanced budgets and mounting costs of government, but rarely a word about the ravenous appetite of war. Strange that we accuse foreign powers of military designs when we ourselves are increasing military appropriations more than any of the great nations.

And what country has such little excuse for this madness as our own? No people was ever blessed with a greater degree of natural security against foreign aggression than we ourselves. Bristling with armaments, America is a threat to world peace and comity among nations.

Lemon Juice

Howdy, folks! Now that the vacation season has drawn to a close, every American knows one summer resort he will not visit next year.

An aeronautical expert predicts that the day of the privately-owned airplane will soon be here. There's only one reason why we'd like to own an airplane. The roar of the engine would drown out comments from the back seat!

REALM OF SCIENCE

Prof. Hector T. Fitznoodle, eminent Garden Grove sociologist, after years of research, has discovered that out of 100 persons to whom you are introduced, at least 35 of them will say, "didn't quite catch the name."

Well, there is one thing you can always say for the Democrats—they're always to be found where the fighting is most furious.

BATHING BEACH SIGN

Life-guards are forbidden to converse with bathers unless properly introduced or in case of drowning.

Today's Definition: A college man is one who can have a successful week-end on a quart of gin, a shoe-shine, and perhaps a clean shirt.

"Meeting called to water," screamed the coach as the swimming team dived in.

ABIGAIL APPLESAUCE SEZ:

"None but th' brave deserves th' fair—and none but th' brave can live with some of them."

AUTUMNAL ODE

When the frost is on the pumpkin And the corn is in the shock, Then all the brave commuters Sadly back to town will flock!

YE DIARY

Mighty earlie up, and do build a fire on the hearth of the little beach cabin, for the days, in all truth, do grow more chillie. Anon to breakfasting upon wild crab-apple muffins, which Dame Juice doth compound most expertly. Thenafter to saving up the old cedar log back of the woodshed.

In the afternoon with little Homer and Babie Juice, to taking our last swim of the summer, and little Homer doth shew me the Australian crawl, and Babie doth shew me the mud crawl (swimming with her hands on the bottom), but I do take naught of interest in their aquatic achievements for Lord! I be as cold as an icicle and shaking like unto an aspen leaf. And so back to the house, where we do dine on a steak-and-kidney pie, and anon to bed.

"Put some more wood on the fire, Junior."

Remarkable Remarks

We still wrestle with the problems of childhood, youth, old age. We still love and hate; suffer and die. All our wonderful inventions leave untouched the eternal in human life. —The Rev. William Paxton, London minister.

We begin to see that all share-the-wealth programs are misnamed. They really should be called steal-the-wealth programs.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president Columbia university.

Those fishermen who are home from the San Diego excursion brought with them enough tuna to feed all the unemployed for an indefinite period, but that hasn't made any difference in the price of fish, except to those who came within the benefactions of the anglers. It just saved them the price of one meal.

Had a nice communication this morning from Postmaster Terry Stephenson. Terry is going to leave that place one of these days so he wanted to get me word before he left. Terry's notice read like this: "Box Rent Due."

Next time the Boy Scouts have a bonfire I know where they can get some material for the blaze. Harry Hayes and Ed Vegely are still wearing straw hats. There's a courageous defiance of fashion.

Will the party who phoned in about a car climbing a curb, and two tires complaining about the treatment they received, come in for a check-up on the only sent in part of the information. Course the rest of it could be obtained from a garage, but I'm too busy to visit every garage in town.

Just put another notch on the old revolver handle. Chet Dale asked me to go fishing.

Roy Shafer comes to the defense of the Santa Ana river, or rather a part of it. He says by an act of the legislature the Santa Ana river was declared a navigable stream, with certain restrictions. You see the river now does not run where it used to, and the navigability was only possible when the high tide helped at Newport and Balboa. All the more reason why the Kelly-Collins project should go to the PWA for decision.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. E. (Skinny) SKRIBBIN

Senator McAdoo arrived in Los Angeles just in time to introduce a new bride, and face a political quarrel. Neither situation will worry the senator. He has met both of them before. Which may not be "around and about" this town, but you can't stop us from doing our share of the gossiping. Los Angeles can't have everything.

If this Louis-Bear dispute is to be a fight I'll put my four bits on the descendant of Haile Selassie, if it's to be a fake I'll play Palestine as the favorite. After all neither one of 'em will lose anything but a belt.

They are going to have a fight in the Mediterranean. That suits me. Let 'em keep it there.

Those doors which flip are a favorite with me. I'll fall for them most any time. Revolving doors keep you moving, but those doors which open one way and you can run your face into going the other, elicit my maledictions with emphasis. Now you know what I mean. There are times when you want a door to open just as readily as it closes.

I'm satisfied the Santa Ana merchants have the latest fashions. That isn't what's been worrying me for the past six years.

I have no control over any one's vote. Never agreed to deliver one except my own and sometimes wasn't certain about it, but the water and school bond issues are so important that it is appropriate to at least urge every voter to declare his position on election day. Water is important, and safe school buildings an absolute responsibility, which no voter can evade.

Notice an item where Ben Koral talks "lunatics" with a newspaper reporter. Ah, ha, the old Canadian mounted police on foot, but he still gets his man.

Trouble with those prisoners who say from the sheriff is that they are unable to run far enough. They should be placed in a class where the yardage is limited to their ability. They won't need any sense, or else they wouldn't try to run away in the first place.

Newspaper heading: "Orange county fire chiefs meet in Laguna." So that's where they go for fire water!

My friend O. A. Haley, who involuntarily became involved in an automobile accident, and sustained a broken hip, has finally consented to come out into the sunlight, sustained by the customary artificial perambulators. Noticed O. A. yesterday and started his way, but the blonde came along and oh, well, O. A. can wait.

Gene McKelvey advancing the siesta hour to the early forenoon. Anyway I find him drowsing on the postoffice steps and sent for the boys over at the sheriff's office to come and get him. But he told me to.

Those fishermen who are home from the San Diego excursion brought with them enough tuna to feed all the unemployed for an indefinite period, but that hasn't made any difference in the price of fish, except to those who came within the benefactions of the anglers. It just saved them the price of one meal.

Had a nice communication this morning from Postmaster Terry Stephenson. Terry is going to leave that place one of these days so he wanted to get me word before he left. Terry's notice read like this: "Box Rent Due."

Next time the Boy Scouts have a bonfire I know where they can get some material for the blaze. Harry Hayes and Ed Vegely are still wearing straw hats. There's a courageous defiance of fashion.

Will the party who phoned in about a car climbing a curb, and two tires complaining about the treatment they received, come in for a check-up on the only sent in part of the information. Course the rest of it could be obtained from a garage, but I'm too busy to visit every garage in town.

Just put another notch on the old revolver handle. Chet Dale asked me to go fishing.

Roy Shafer comes to the defense of the Santa Ana river, or rather a part of it. He says by an act of the legislature the Santa Ana river was declared a navigable stream, with certain restrictions. You see the river now does not run where it used to, and the navigability was only possible when the high tide helped at Newport and Balboa. All the more reason why the Kelly-Collins project should go to the PWA for decision.
